Just add the file name. The directory path:project->app->src->main->res->drawableSet the id of all components and add onClick methods with buttons. It will start song.public void playSong (View v) {music.start ();}For the pause button, we will use the built-in pause function. Select the image and paste it into the drawable directory. This will parse the song.public void pauseSong (View v) {mp.pause ();}For the stop button, we will use the built-in stop function. It is a class built into the android package. The horizontal layout will contain three buttons (play, pause and stop button). You have to copy the source file, then right-click on the raw directory and click paste. You can get there by:app->res->rawIf there is no raw folder, then create it by right-clicking on the res directory then:res->new-> directoryName the newly created directory as raw and add all audio files in this folder. The MediaPlayer class has a built-in function called start, let's use this function for the play button. It is not allowed to drag and drop files here. This horizontal layout will align these three buttons horizontally on the bottom half of our app's screen.To understand this clearly, please scroll through the following blue print and component tree of our app:In our app I've used different styles to play, pause and stop, adding the following line of code:android:background=âÅ"Äáàáá"""android:drawable/ic_media_playâ""playâ""" to playâ" To play android:background=Ä¢µ-@android:drawable/ic_media_pauseÄáááááááááááááááâ€TMa for the pause buttonAndroid:background=Ä¢"àâ€TMandroid:drawable/ic_deleteâ€Â£2 for the stop buttonHere the geeksforgeeks logo is used in the application. The only valid characters are (a-z and 0-9 and _) Step 4: Let's encode the functionality of our AppMake a MediaPlayer class object called Music.
